THE ORIGIN OF HARBOI IN THE LIGHT OF HISTORY

Ghulam Farooq Baloch,*

OBJECTIVES.

1. To Search the word Harboi or Arboi on the pages of history.
2. To sketch the Harboi area.
3. To compare the same word with word Brahui.

ABSTRACT

Few years ago I was think that Harboi is a specific place in the eastern mountains of Kalat, but after some time it came in my knowledge that the eastern range of mountains which is layout from north to south called Harboi range or Brahvic range. The word Harboi is an ancient word and it comes in history as it is. According to many people and intellectuals, this is a Persian word, which meaning is every kind of smell, but this meaning never satisfied me. I saw and search the most literature about Balochistan, particularly Greek literature of ancient historians, and I successfully achieved my aim. The following article covers the above topic.

INTRODUCTION

The Brahvic range or Harboi range of mountains is the biggest mountainous range of Balochistan with a length of 355 kms and width 125 kms (Malik Saleh Muhammad Khan Leehri, Balochistan one unit pehlay, weekly Bagh-o-Bahar, Quetta, 1955, page-2). This mountain has many peaks, like Mehr dar near Quetta, Maran near Kalat, Khalifat and many others. Harboi is a place in this range near Kalat. This is a beautiful scenic and Picnic place and is in the control of Ahmad Zai Baloch ex-MNA family of Kalat.

Assistant Professor (History) Balochistan Study Centre, University of Balochistan Quetta.
This is a cool place and not good in winter but in the hot summer it is like a paradise. This range is layout from north (Ziarat District) up to the plains of Lasbela District in the south.

Actually this mountain is a wall between east and west. It has only two entries, one is Bolan Pass, started in the West from Kolpur near Quetta and ended at Rind Ali near Sibi. The second Pass is also very famous in history, called Moola Pass. This mountainous range has many valleys, like Quetta, Mastung, Kalat, Soorab, Khuzdar and many others. Many rivers flow in this range like Bolan River, Moola River and others. This range is also full of forests, many kind expensive bushes, and wild life and grazing areas. It is also full of various kind mineral resources. Many peaks of this range are above them 10,000 feet from sea level, and the valleys of this mountain are full of ancient mounds and other kind wonderful archeological sites, as well as beautiful scene and entertainment places. One of the ancient places of world the Mehrgarh is the honor of this range.

Harboi or Arboi in History

Word Harboi or Arboi comes in history for a specific place near Kalat, the ex-capital of Balochistan, or for a mountainous range of central Balochistan who given this name to the mountain? Any body does not know. Every person understands it is a Persian word, which meaning is every kind good smell because of various kind bushes. This mountainous range also called Brahvic range and many British authors like H. Pottinger # (Henery Pottinger, Travel in Sindh and Balochistan Indus Publications, Karachi, 1986, Pp-25-39) Charles Masson, A. W, Huges # (A.W, Huges, Country of Balochistan, Indus Publication, Karachi, 1999, reprint, Pp-5-6) described it in their books. The local people also agree to this meaning of mountain. So, it comes to our knowledge that these mountainous ranges have two names. Harboi and Brahvi, but in my opinion this is not fact and neither a Persian word. Till today any body did not feel the need of research on this topic which is present on the pages of history with different meanings. The first time in history Greek Historians Arian and Strebo used this word for a dynasty, tribes and for their river. According to Arian after the departure of Alexander and his troops from Batala they entered into the Arabai dynasty # (Mc. Crindle. Invasion of India by Alexander the Great, Indus Publications, Karachi, 1986, P-21). According to him the Greek troops reached near a river which called Arabai (Ibid-Pp 21-22). The Arabai tribes moved to their same name after a small fight (Ibid- Pp)

According to Vincent, A. Smith in October 326 B.C Alexander Batala and departures his hard and difficult journey. In first phase journey he reached near to Arabios River # (V.A. Smith, Ancient Hand of India, Translated by, Muhammad Jameel-ur-Rehman, Takke Greek Lahore, 2001, Pp-122-26). According to him Alexander the Great donation to punish the Oritai tribes of the area, which were still did not accord supremacy of him. So in the beginning of his journey he facedhist tribes near the Arabios river. When these tribes listened about the unknown of Greek troops they left to desert and northern mountains. Because Bala were not agreed to accept the supremacy of Alexander the Great they neither want to fight with invaders. # (Ibid Page-126). Alexander cross the river and started his operation into Oritai area # (Ibid Page-126) mis Ariane and Strebo are two thousand years ancient historians mentioned the name of the tribes and the area in their books and no and they pronouns the name in their own language and skill. No doubt the pronunciation is change then local people and their language, as to use called the area and tribes Arabai and the river, Arabios. Now, it proved the Arboi or Harboi was in use during the invasion by Greeks, and the the listening of this word by the local inhabitants of the area or neg the Greeks write and pronounced it in their own linguistic skill. his

Comparison The Word Harboi With The Word Brahui

The inhabitants of the area which discussed by Greek historians the Brahvi tribes from unknown times. May be during Iranian ashman period (558. B.C to 331 B.C) when the Baloch dynasty was in the him, this name has been given by them, but it is not confirm to prove from any source of knowledge. But it has proved that during the invasion the area was called Arabai or Arboi because of the inhab it the area.

Now it creates a question that who were the Arboi or Ar people? In my opinion they were Brahvi tribes of the area whose are inhabitants of this mountainous range and the word Brahvi is the shape of Arboi or Harboi.
The Greeks ruled upon the area for a short period and then the Iranian rulers of India occupied the area after a bloody battle with the Greek ruler of the Greek territory Salyokes Nicotar, and the all Baloch tribes came into the hands of Indians including the area of Araboi tribes.

After a long journey of 1700 years the area of Harboi became under the control of Qambrani Brahvi family of Baloch nation. After the Greek and Indian invasion the area of Balochistan captured by many other civilizations, like Sasanids of Iran, Barhamans of Sindh, Arabs, Ghaznavids and Mughals, during this all period the name of Harboi was replaced from story, or may be it is in Indian ancient history but this is not in my knowledge, but when the area of Balochistan came under the rule of Nobech Khanate, then the word Harboi refreshed. And when the British Government moved its forward policy towards Balochistan after the death Naseer Khan the Great, they sent many confidential and secret missions towards Balochistan.

The first Britain was Henry Pottinger who entered in Balochistan and introduced the word Harboi into the British text about Balochistan and changed it into the Brahvi, which is not correct. Many times British used the word Brahvi for all the mountainous range of Harboi, which is also not true. In my opinion the correct word is Harboi or Arboi which is above 2000 years ancient name of the area as well as of the tribes.

Now, this is a natural incident that, this name again refreshed in story by the original inhabitants of the area.
CONCLUSION:

After all this discussion its come on front of us and increased our knowledge that now a day word Harboi use for a picnic point near Porali but in very past this word was commonly use for the inhabitants Jhalawan cum Lasbela, for their territory and for their river, which in my view Porali river. Many other authors and historians also agree on this name. We have many more arguments to prove it that, the place Porali’s Bank were the inhabitants of Jhalawan (Khuzdar). According to very famous archaeologists Ms. Batrice De Cardi, the ruins of Huddit Shehr near the Bank of Porali prove it that the people of Harboi (Khuzdar) were occupied the area of Bela before the birth of Christ (Muhammad Saeed Dehwar, Balochistan Ma Qabal Tarikh, Publishers, Quetta. Pp-110-113). According Ms. Cardi the surface mound of Huddit Shehr give us information about these people belong to Londo mound, which is situated near the National Highway the distance of twelve miles in the north of Khuzdar. # (Ibid Pp-113)

No doubt Londo mound was a big city and stay point situated near ancient trade and military route. It is true and proved that the invaders destroyed the areas which came under their attack. Ms. Cardi says that the Londo culture alive up to the end of Sasanids of Iran i.e. Pp-110-113).

So, in the end of the topic it proves that the word Harboi or Harboi is the ancient name of the all area of Jhalawan which was connected south, with the borders of Oritai dynasty (Lasbela). This all dynasty into the hands of Arboi tribes. After a long time this word again come into our history, and British writers and spies changed it into the word of Harboi very cleverly. And also they try to use it against the unification of Baloch nation.

Baloch is a nation which based on many tribal confederations unifications like Rinds, Hots, Nahrois, Dehwwars, Jams, Saraikies and them Harboi confederacy was also the part of Baloch nation from time time.

This topic deeply needed more and wide research work and if we work on this topic will create new and blasting theories in the field of history. I think it can find in the archaeological sites of the area.
BIBLIOGRAPHY:

1. Dehwar Muhammad Saeed Malik, Balochistan, Ma-Qabal-e-Tareekh, Rubi Publishers, Quetta.

3. Lehri, Saleh Mohammad, Malik, Balochistan One Unit Say Pehlay, Weekly Bagh-o-Bahar, Quetta, 1952.

